

L'ENCLOS DE PERALBA

Els Presseguers

L'Enclòs de Peralba was started in 2017 by Leo and Roc Gramona, of the renowned Penedès sparkling wine dynasty. The project is named after the stony white calcareous soils of the Sant Sadurní hills in Alt Penedès, where the winery is located. Leo and Roc have sought out plots owned by experienced old farmers whose knowledge and skill were in danger of dying out. These are growers who share their desire to work sustainably.

Penedès is a large region with a wide variety of terroirs, from the Mediterranean coastal vineyards in the south, to the steep slopes of the valley of Montserrat in the north. Soils range from stony calcareous clay to slate, so their focus is on making single-parcel wines with local grape varieties, which express the mesoclimate and terroir of each plot, aiming to present the “distinctive flavor of their landscape.” They build on this by working with minimal intervention in their small cellar. They vinify each parcel separately and age it in either barrel or concrete tanks before bottling. The wines show a clarity and purity uncommon in such young winemakers and are a refreshing addition to both the region’s offerings and our portfolio.

Els Presseguers shows the full potential of the Xarello grape grown in the heart of Penedès. The wine hails from a plot that boasts perfect conditions for winegrowing thanks to the Font Freda region’s special microclimate. The region’s water reserves and sun exposure are ideal for the ripening of this fresh, aromatic Xarello with lovely aromas of ripe peaches.
